It is in community where we heal. It is in groups where we find the courage to share and be supports for one another.

What you will experience

- You will engage in a group process. We will explore our thoughts emotions and stories together.
- We will step into the risky act of being vulnerable, while also learning to hold space for each other.
- The rules that we live by will be unearthed, considered, and transformed. We will endeavour to live from our fully realized, authentic selves.

Who should attend?

We are inviting the Male clients of CPYC, who are in regular psychotherapy, ready to participate fully in group work and to committ to attending all sessions.
